

“Indiana’s foundations have the mission and skill to rally talent and money in order to achieve significant improvements. They sit close to the front lines and can bring the focus and resources necessary to make the transformational changes that we need.”

—FORMER LT. GOVERNOR KATHY DAVIS

“Community foundations in Indiana play a key role in identifying and solving problems across our state. Each foundation has an in-depth knowledge of local concerns which enables them to effectively address the root of many issues. They are the drivers of community enhancements and push our state forward.”

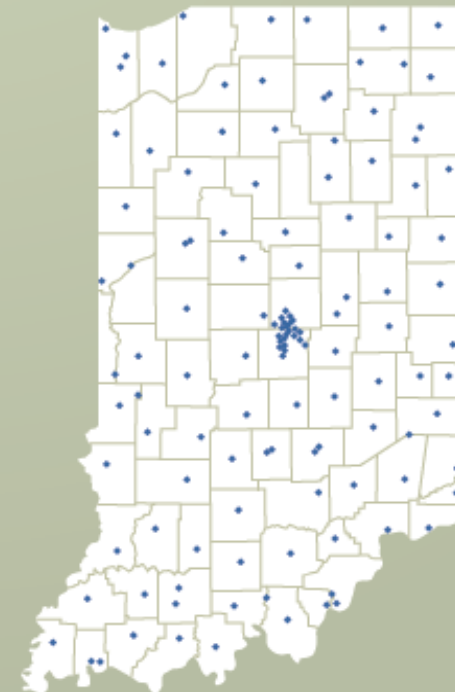

—SECRETARY OF STATE CONNIE LAWSON

“Indiana’s foundations are vital partners in fulfilling Hoosiers’ collective vision for our future. Beyond the generous funding they provide, many foundations are actively engaged in identifying community needs and developing strategies to meet them.”

—PATRICK ROONEY, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR,
CENTER ON PHILANTHROPY AT INDIANA UNIVERSITY

Indiana Foundations

A resource for communities. A partner for good.

• IGA member foundation

Contact us to learn how Indiana foundations can work with you on important issues that affect the state.

Foundation contact:

NAME

FOUNDATION

EMAIL

PHONE

IGA contact:

Marissa Manlove
President/CEO
Indiana Grantmakers Alliance
(317) 630-5200
mmanlove@indianagrantomakers.org

Indiana Grantmakers Alliance (IGA) is a nonprofit membership association of the state’s community, corporate, family, independent, operating, private and public foundations, as well as corporate giving programs. Visit www.indianagrantomakers.org.

A resource for communities.

1 in 11

Hoosiers employed in the state's nonprofit sector, which Indiana foundations support

140

number of foundations in Indiana Grantmakers Alliance

22,000+

number of grants awarded by the state's Community Foundations in 2011 to enhance quality of life in Indiana communities

$750,000,000

grant dollars that nonprofit organizations receive from IGA member foundations, representing 71% of foundation giving statewide

100%

percentage of Indiana counties covered by our membership

We support policies that help us support Indiana communities, including:

Tax policies that encourage the growth of Indiana philanthropy

Continued tax-exemption for Indiana nonprofits

Tax credits for community foundations

Continued availability of donor-advised funds

Accountability and transparency while preserving philanthropic independence

A partner for good.

Foundations can be an important catalyst for finding solutions to Indiana's challenges. We fund work in critical issue areas for the state, including the economy, education, environment, health and human services. While philanthropy can't replace government funds...

$

$1.05 billion

Indiana foundation grantmaking in 2009

$$$$$$$$
$$$$$$$$

$14.4 billion

Indiana state government appropriations in 2009

...we can work with government, and other allies, in important ways. Here is how some of our member foundations describe the roles that foundations can play:

"We can be the neutral convener"

"Incubate innovative solutions that can be brought to scale"

"We can be the risk capital"

"Broker connections between key players"

"Commission research on policy and promising practices"

"Provide issue expertise to inform policies"

Indiana communities

What can we do together?